Philosophy provides students with the opportunity to gain insight into life's biggest questions, such as: how we should live, what it means to be human, and how we should structure society.

Philosophy also grapples with the problems that lie at the foundation of issues of public debate, such as artificial intelligence, human rights, and freedom of speech.

Throughout the course, students will develop high-level skills in argumentation and abstract, analytical reasoning. They will also be challenged to think rigorously and discuss issues in communities of inquiry.

This engagement in philosophical discussion encourages students to think creatively, reflectively, and collaboratively. It additionally equips them with the critical thinking and ethical decision-making skills to face the global social challenges of the present and the future.
